A word from Eric

When Jef Wind first introduced me to Disc Golf back in 1998 Silicon Valley had just put in Hellyer's 9-hole course. As I gained experience throwing the disc, the obsession to throw in all my free time grew as well. The culture of players gathering for doubles, coming to monthlies, playing for tags became more and more where I felt I needed to be. We built La Raza and the obsession only grew more feverish. Then Bill Sherman, who got the bug to grow the sport real bad, pushed through all the obstacles to host Silicon Valley's first PDGA sanctioned tourney The Classic. He showed us all that what we had was an amazing foundation and we could build it to something few could truly see. Bill helped players outside the south bay notice and his lead compelled me to follow in bringing the community together in tournament play. Silicon Valley Disc Golf Club has continued to grow and bring players to this obsession of watching the disc fly. Still sometimes this feels like there are more forces compelling us to play, it is almost like Aliens are hypnotizing us... Maybe, just maybe they are ...

Welcome to The Mesmerize! Silicon Valley Disc Golf has grown to manage multiple courses and draw in players from farther and farther away, and Kelley Park is one of the reasons. Our now 21-hole course has become the challenge that Mesmerizes us all with the balance of big air shots and tight lines to carve. The addition of our tunnel shots and triple mando holes make sure we have control as well as power and the balance of some rough with manicured greens during the spring times lush green makes us all want to be here more and more. Is it passion, obsession, or the aliens mesmerizing us to play? All I can be sure of is that I am so happy you are all here to share in the desire to be challenged by the game and Kelley Park.

I have to thank my incredible team: Freddy Rodriguez and I have been working together for many years now to bring this event to all of you. Freddy is relentless with his drive to make our experience the best it can be. With the concrete pads and multiple tees he built, the variables just grow.

His wife Rene brings her amazing Pozole and this feels more like a family gathering.

Perry David Ralston is an amazing addition to the team. He is an incredible problem solver who brings a calm head and real logic to all obstacles that pop up. I have grown so comfortable with David's ability to understand where we are headed and what needs to be done that I even get to balance running this event with playing this year and when I step into player mode, David will take over as the voice and lead of the event.

Not only did Jef Wind introduce me to this sport, but his creative mind has shaped the feel with what he provides for the players packs and first place trophies. Each year Jef takes my obsession with Aliens and creates the images and forms that shape the year. His designs a new logo each year that we put on the Legacy Discs, the Gorilla Shirts, and the Tee Box Sox. He spends time hand crafting our first place trophies to give our winners the most unique celebration of their accomplishments. I am blessed with his amazing creative spirit and incredible friendship, and I am forever grateful that he shared his passion for tossing plastic with me all those years ago.

Jef and I introduced Jason Hilbert to disc golf back in our days as volleyball coaches. Jason has grown into an amazing player and ambassador, and I am so thankful to have his creative energies helping with trophies and getting the course ready for the tourney.

This year we again are partnered with Legacy Discs, Tee box Sox, Gorila disc golf, and we are proud to bring a new partner: Disc Zone who will be set up both days and provide the Am payout on site at the end of play.

Now let's all get Mesmerized together!
